Of an ancient philosopher it is sarcastically hinted that the Shoemaker would have to pare the feet of some customer before he could please them.

The writer was cynical and not aware of the real fault.

ALL SIZES of shoes were not then made equally beautiful.

The small sizes of even a medium good style were attractive because of their fairy. like dimensions. But in most designs breadth and length were gained at the expense of beauty.

This fault is still common to most boots. The DESIGNERS of PATRICIAN SHOES, however, pay special attention to keeping those graceful lines and perfect symmetry in the larger sizes that make them equal in beauty and attractiveness to the small sizes.

The most exacting buyers are welcomed by us, for, beauty being considered in all sizes, and having a perfect fit for every natural foot, we know that the PATRICIAN will solve all shoe-buying troubles.
